Tompkins County, N.Y. Government Preferred Brand Guidelines & Style Guide

Reference for County Departments, staff, community partners, media, and contractors when using marks associated with the Tompkins County government. These guidelines are suggested to ensure consistency in communications with stakeholders, including members of the public.

Official Tompkins County Seal

The official Tompkins County Logo is the County Seal as described in the County's Charter. The seal is the primary mark to denote something officially related to the Tompkins County Government organization. It is incumbent upon County departments and employees to present a consistent brand that helps stakeholders contextualize the myriad work of the County government.

The Tompkins County, N.Y. Charter states the following:

The Tompkins County Seal shall consist of an American bald eagle, whose body faces forward with head turned to the eagle's left, with wings widespread and claws outstretched. In the eagle's right claw is a bunch of arrows and in its left an olive branch. Rising above the eagle's head and between its wing tips are three arcs of stars numbering five, seven and eight respectively, for a total of 20 stars representing the number of states in 1817, the year of the founding of Tompkins County. Framing the above eagle, arrows, olive branch and stars is one narrowly spaced smaller concentric circle, and one widely spaced larger concentric circle. In the arc portion between the small circle and the larger circle are 13 stars representing the 13 original colonies. In the arc portion above the eagle, between these same circles are the words, in uppercase lettering, TOMPKINS COUNTY. These words extend from right of the eagle's right wing tip to the left of the eagle's left wing tip.

Using the County Seal as the Organization's Primary Logo:

The County seal may be used in various formats as the County government's official logo. The seal should be used in primary colors with transparency behind the seal (.png, .eps, or .pdf file formats) and should retain a circular format and not be altered or stretched beyond the circular 1/1 ratio.

The seal may be overlaid over an image, used in official letterhead, other graphics and public information materials, on signage, plaques, and markers among other official uses.

The primary logo may be used as part of a default logo for a County department or program area (page 4).

Sample primary uses:

New Signage (2021)
Daniel D. Tompkins Building, Court St., Ithaca

Field at Sunset
Mt. Pleasant Rd., Varna/Dryden

1/1 Ratio for Logo Sizing:

Spacing & Layout County Seal as Primary Logo:

The County seal should be well spaced from edges of documents and images or other words or marks placed in its vicinity. The suggested spacing (shown in black to the right) is equal to 1/9 of the size of the seal.

Using this spacing formula ensures legibility as the size of the mark increases or decreases.

The seal should be placed justified to the left or centered on the medium depending on the use case.

Spacing example:

Department of
Planning &
Sustainability

Smaller version with same spacing:

Limited / Special Case / Secondary Marks or Logos

More appropriate for internal or special communications.

Consider the audience's familiarity with the limited or secondary mark before use, for example, if someone does not recognize the photo of the painted County Seal from the Legislature Chambers, it may appear unprofessional in a branding context.

County Values Logo

In 2020, Tompkins County adopted an official set of organizational values, as portrayed in this secondary logo.

Alt. Values Logo

An alternate feat. a white background and blue outline may be used.

Website Header Logo

This logo appears on the County's website and in various use cases from ITS, including GIS applications and on digital forms for other departments.

Geographical County Outline

A simplified version of the County's geographical outline may be used in certain contexts, primarily when your audience is familiar with the geography of Tompkins County. This version is slightly abstracted to include Cayuga Lake within the outline of the land for simplicity and reproducibility reasons.

The edges on the stroke (outline) should be rounded and the stroke should be aligned to center.

Avoid Using:

Representations of County Seal

Avoid using instances of the County Seal that do not use a single primary color and/or that have a solid background beyond the outer circle.

Outdated Graphics

Avoid using graphics that are outdated and that do not follow these brand guidelines.

Important Text Overlaid on Seal

Avoid using text overlaid on the county seal or other logos. Overlaid text inhibits reproducibility and legibility.

Stretched Logo

Do not stretch any logos beyond the designated ratio. To stretch and keep the ratio, hold the [shift] key and re-size from the corner of the image.

Preferred Fonts

This series of fonts are preferred for use when communicating or creating documents from the Tompkins County organization.

Example with Preferred Fonts in use:

Headline In Cooper Medium

Subheader in Source Sans Pro Bold

Body text of your message in Arial Regular. This hierarchy of font use is designed to clearly communicate with the reader the importance of various levels of text. In certain cases, the italic versions of these fonts may also be used.

These particular fonts appear well in context with one another, with the more interesting Cooper font drawing in the eye as a headline, the more clear, bold, unobtrusive Source Sans Pro font clarifying information as a subheader, and the simple, easy to read Arial Regular text appearing here as the body text of the message. Notice the subtle additional spacing between the headline and subheader.

Alternative Fonts

This series of fonts are alternates for use when communicating or creating documents from the Tompkins County organization. Noto Sans should be the primary font for text translated into languages other than English.

Suggested Program Area Brand Guidelines

In the event that a County department does not have its own logo with other guidelines for use, it is recommended that the department use the following brand guidelines. The suggested guidelines utilize the County Seal paired with the name of the department.

Default Departmental Logo

Department of Planning &
Sustainability

In the event that a County department does not have its own logo with other guidelines for use, it is recommended that the department use these brand guidelines. These suggested guidelines utilize the County Seal and the name of the department in the primary Cooper Medium font. In a case where the department's name is shorter than three lines, it should be centered vertically relative to the seal (seen in two examples below).

Board of Elections

Legislature

Departmental Variations

Some departments or program areas create and use their own branding outside of these guidelines. Departments should consider the necessity of a separate brand and the audience or client that might respond better to a brand more clearly associated with the work of the department or program. If a department creates its own brand, it should notify the Public Information Officer/Communications Director and the appropriate committee of the Legislature.

Shared Principles

All variations should include "Tompkins County" to clearly denote that the mark is of a County government-related entity or activity.

All variations should be clearly legible. All variations should be produced in professional design software and with professional help as appropriate, high-quality design processes lead to more sustainable and consistent brands.

The development of any brand should include stakeholder involvement. A Brand Guidelines document similar to this one should be developed and published alongside any new brand.

Examples:

TOMPKINS COUNTY
OFFICE FOR THE AGING
Aging Better, Together

Your Partner for a Healthy Community

Using Brand Guidelines in Logo Development

Following similar shared principles as laid out above, departments may use the content in this Brand Guidelines document to develop a new brand for their department or a specific program area.

New brands developed using these guidelines should use elements that connect to the core Tompkins County brand or seal, several examples are included below.

Department Examples:

Department of Veterans Services

Workforce Development
Board

Tompkins County
Assessment Department
fairness & equity

Program Examples:

*Safety & Incident Real-Time
Emergency Notifications*

Centering
Equity.

Reimagining
Public Safety Ithaca & Tompkins County, N.Y.

Letterhead

A template for letterhead that departments may use to create official documents and communication is available. Departments may download this template and change the text to reflect their department's information. The default tagline that many departments use is "Inclusion through diversity."

Photography

High-resolution, professional quality media (specifically photography and video) is a core part of Tompkins County's brand. Because the organization is a decentralized structure, operations, facilities, and cultures vary between departments and buildings. Media helps to capture these facets of the organization and can be a clarification and community engagement tool. Media can also reflect a sense of place and give context to a place or facet of County Operations.

If a department is in need of media services, consider coordinating with the County's Media Production Assistant. They can provide photography and video services that match your needs while adhering to brand guidelines. If you would like to hire your own photographer, please coordinate with the County's Public Information Officer.

Departments are encouraged to share any photography available for public use to the Communications Director for inclusion on the publicly available photography assets database linked below.

Examples:

*Tompkins County Old Jail Building,
125 E. Court St. Ithaca, N.Y.*

Style
